

Sarah Dutton '00 teaches Spanish to nurses, physicians and other health care providers at Johns Hopkins School of Nursing as a way to break down language barriers between patients and providers. Her classes cover medical terminology and cultural competence.